

Our project, the MAPS Pre-Health Conference, does not involve any modifications to campus spaces, permanent installations, or the hiring of full-time staff. It is a temporary event designed to provide valuable information and networking opportunities for students without requiring any structural or long-term changes to the university's infrastructure. Therefore, no major stakeholders are involved in the approval process. The HUB has hosted the event many years now, and there has been no issue in terms of approval for the event (HUB quote attached). This is why the stakeholder section has been left blank.
